TEACHER

Half French, half Polish, I was born in Luxembourg and have been through the entire Luxembourgish school system.

During my studies in Library science and French literature, I started furthering my interest and knowledge of the Luxembourgish language, primarily because I wanted to start writing the language, that I had been speaking since I was a child, correctly.

Now part time artist, part time teacher, I've been giving private Luxembourgish classes to companies and private people since November 2015, preparing different people for their Luxembourgish nationality exam with success.

I essentially focus on giving my clients/students a balanced mix of understanding the logic of the language and practical application, mostly tailoring my approach to their specific needs.
